Description

Keane's White Mid Fire No'6 with Speckle is a delightfully smooth and versatile clay. The No'6 speckle can be used for medium sized hand building, slab rolling and slumping domestic ware. However, it is most loved for wheel throwing due to its great plasticity and smooth composition. Making any throwing session a enjoyable experience.

Glaze:

The Keane No'6 Speckle ideal glaze firing temperature is cone 6 (1222?). When firing this clay to its desired temperature, you are left with a beautiful white clay with a natural show of speckle.

Keane's No'6 speckle can be paired with any coloured mid fire glazes and still look beautiful, although potters do love to keep it either raw or apply a clear Mid fire glazes to show off its natural speckles.
